Not illustrated. 1874 Excerpt: .Renovating Old Apple Trees. Messrs. Editors American Farmer: The rotting and dropping of Apples has long been a great hindrance to fruit-growers in this country. One reason of fruit dropping before maturity is its being pulled off before thoroughly ripe, which causes the bark to grow more than the wood of the tree, and when the bark of a tree becomes very thick it binds the tree or the wood of the tree so that it cannot grow, and the fruit drops. Another cause is the sapsuckers picking holes in the bark, and the wood lice and other insects sucking the sap of the tree. No doubt there are other causes, but I will not mention them in this communication, but proceed to give a remedy from my own experience. For the past fourteen years I have tried it with great success. First, if...

Reviews

This publication is amazing. It is definitely basic but shocks in the fifty percent of your publication. You wont feel monotony at anytime of your own time (that's what catalogues are for concerning if you question me).

-- Prof. Kirk Cruickshank DDS

This kind of book is every little thing and taught me to looking ahead of time and a lot more. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. I found out this book from my dad and i encouraged this pdf to find out.
